

Terms of use for the “User Handbook for Researchers”
(RV SONNE)

1. The User Handbook for Researchers (hereafter “RV SONNE Handbook”) is reserved for the use of researchers who wish to use the RV SONNE for scientific purposes. For this intention, and according to the requirement of the Federal Ministry of Education and Research, they will be issued with a password by the Control Station German Research Vessels (hereafter: “User”). Use of the RV SONNE Handbook is free of charge.
2. The User acquires a non-exclusive, non-transferable right of use of the RV Sonne Handbook.
3. The right to use the RV SONNE Handbook is restricted to one year starting from the date of receipt of the password. The right of use may be extended by the Control Station German Research Vessels to the necessary extent upon written request by the User.
4. The User commits himself/herself to maintaining the secrecy of the password and to the confidential use of the content of the RV SONNE Handbook.
5. The User is permitted to print out and copy the handbook for his/her own use. Passing copies or printouts of the RV SONNE Handbook to other persons is forbidden, except as follows: Copies or printouts of the RV SONNE Handbook may only be passed on to other researchers or team members and only to the extent to which this is necessary in order to prepare and/or undertake an expedition with the RV SONNE. Chief scientists who hold a right of use are allowed to transmit the password or parts of the RV SONNE Handbook to companies or cooperating partners who are in charge of developing equipment for the corresponding research cruise.

The password can be obtained as follows:

For expedition participants:	From the chief scientist
For technical preparations:	From the ship operator Briese (research@briese.de)
Other:	From the German Research Fleet Coordination Center (leitstelle.ldf@uni-hamburg.de) From Project Management Jülich, Rostock office (d.roessler@fz-juelich.de)
